THAT there be prepared a Return of the Names of every Dignity, Prebend, Benefice, Donative, and Parochial Chapelry, within the several Dioceses of Ireland, and of all the Persons possessing the same, who shall not have resided on such Dignity, Prebend, Benefice, Donative, or Parochial Chapelry, during one year last past; so far as the several Archbishops or Bishops may be informed thereof; in order to the same being laid before the House early in the next Session of Parliament, by the Registers of the several Dioceses; distinguishing such Persons as have received Licence or Permission from their Dioceses for their Non-Residence.

Ordered,

THAT there be prepared, by the Registers of the several Dioceses of Ireland, Returns of the Names and Number of Parishes comprized in each Union of Parishes within their respective Dioceses; the period of time when such respective Parishes were united, and the authority under which such Union was effected; the number of Acres of Glebe which appertain to each Parish, and whether any Glebe-house is erected thereon, and the distance at which such respective Parishes, so united, lie from each other, when such Parishes are not contiguous; and whether any and what number of Churches, in which Divine Service is performed, are now severally thereon, or were at the time when such Parishes were united; so far as the same can be made out; in order to the same being laid before the House early in the next Session of Parliament.

LIST of RETURNS, from several Dioceses in Ireland, to the Orders of the Honourable the House of Commons, dated the 5th June 1805.

| Of many of the clergy, who are here returned as not residing on their benefices, it will be seen that many are externally resident. In all cases of real absence, their places are supplied by licensed curates. In several cases where the incumbent does not reside, the value of the parish is very small, and insufficient for the support of a clergyman. |                                                     |                                     |                                                                                  |

There are about seventy-seven acres of glebe in the parish of Elphin, and about one hundred and sixty-one acres of glebe in the parish of Oglish. There is a very old glebe-house in the parish of Elphin, and it is intended shortly to erect a new one on a better site. The parishes are contiguous, and now and heretofore one church only in the parish of Elphin.                                                                                                            |
| 2.  | 1. Killokeon.2. Tanna.3. Creeve.4. Kilgessa.                    | These parishes belong to the Archdeacon of Elphin, who has a cure of souls. The three first have been episcopally united time immemorial, and are contiguous. In 1802, the parish of Kilgessa (worth about £.80. per ann. and distant from the other three about ten miles) was added to the Union by the present Bishop of Elphin, as it was thought that the income of the other three (being only about £.150. per ann.) was inadequate to the situation of an Archdeacon. Now and when united, one church only is in this Union, which is attended by the Archdeacon. |

* * * There is no record in the registry what distance the different parishes comprised in each union of parishes are from each other, but it appears by the clergymen's titles to the different episcopal sees that they were made by reason of contiguity, and the smallness of the value for the maintenance of the several incumbents; and there can be no doubt but that the several perpetual unions were made for the same reason.

RESIDENCE OF THE CLERGY.

From the best information that can be obtained, and from the regular attendance of the Register himself and his deputies for some years back, at the visitations of the dioceses, and particularly for the year preceding the 5th day of June last, the clergy were constantly resident, a few excepted, who having dispensations for holding two livings, were generally resident upon one of said livings, and their respective curates on the other; and also excepting those whose names are mentioned as follows:

NON-RESIDENCE

The Reverend Abraham Stewart, incumbent of the union N<sup>o</sup> 2, not now resident, being ill with an inflammation in his eyes. A curate does the duty.

The Reverend John Lewis, incumbent of Howth, not resident at Howth, but has a resident curate there, and resides and does duty in the parish of St. Kevin, Dublin.

The Reverend Soter Charles Littlehales, incumbent of the union No. 3, absent with leave of the archbishop, he being in a state of ill health; but he has a resident curate.

The Reverend Thomas Richardson, vicar of Ballytherry, not resident, but has a resident curate, and is under orders to reside himself.

The Reverend Christopher Robinson, rector of Ballynagan, value of which said to be about £ 50 per annum. No glebe or glebe-house. A curate does the duty.

The Reverend William Blundell, vicar of Ballacadden, not resident at Ballacadden, but resides in the parish of St. Mary, Dublin, where he does duty; and a curate does the duties of Ballacadden. Value said to be only £. 50 per annum.

The Reverend Gerald Fitzgerald, incumbent of the union No. 18, not resident, but ordered to reside. A curate does the duties.

RETURN No. 1.

A RETURN of the Names of every Dignity, Prebend, Benefice, Donative, and Parochial Chapelry within the Diocese of KILDARE; and of all persons possessing the same, who have not resided on such Dignity, Prebend, Benefice, Donative, or Parochial Chapelry, during One Year, previous to the 5th day of June 1805; so far as the present Bishop of Kildare is informed thereof: distinguishing such persons as have received licence or permission from their diocesan for their non-residence.

IT is to be observed, generally, that since the translation of the present Bishop to this See, no licence or permission of absence has been given to any person whatsoever.

There are set forth, by returns made by rural deans, three small glebes in this Union;
One at Clonartin, par. of Gorey,
One at Kilkenny, and
One at Kilmohr;
supposed to contain about 12 acres.
The parish of Magliin is distant from Gorey from 27 to 30 miles, and is a freehold rectory.
The vicarage endowed is in the Union of Kilkenny la N<sup>o</sup> 26.

There is, and always has been, a parish church at Gorey, in which divine service is performed every Sunday by a curate not yet licensed.

There is not a glebe-house, nor was to any one's knowledge in this Union.

A glebe of about 24 acres.

There is, and always was, a parish church here, in which divine service is performed every Sunday by a licensed curate.—A very poor glebe-house, but in decent repair.

Contiguous to the glebe-house of Kilkenny is a glebe of 10 acres, part of which lies in the par. of Roslone.

There are three churches in this Union, divine service performed every Sunday;

One at Ballycannon,
One at Monmella, and
One at Liskinere.
There is a new glebe-house lately built by Dean Bond at Liskinere, and certified for.
There is an old house at Ballycannon, which answered for a glebe-house, now out of repair.

A glebe of about

There is no church at present nor ever was from time immemorial.—There is a good new glebe-house built by the present incumbent and inhabited by him, in which he every Sunday performs divine service until the church can be completed.

RESIDENCE of the CLERGY.

From the best information that can be obtained, and from the personal attendance of the undersigned at the last and many preceding visitations, the Clergy of the Diocese have, uniformly resided upon their respective benefices, save only a few who having dispensations for holding two livings are necessarily absent, being obliged by a clause in the dispensations, introduced by the present Primate, to reside six months alternately at their respective parishes in each year.

There is no record in the registry of the Diocese containing the number of acres in the glebes of the foregoing unions, or the distance of such united parishes from each other; they are generally adjacent.

NON-RESIDENTS.

DIOCESE OF DOWN.

IN OBEEDIENCE to the Order of the Honourable House of Commons, of the 5th day of June, last, I John Benn, Register of the said Diocese;—(wherein no regular Books or Records were kept or returned by the former Register, and where few of those who received institution, induction, or promotion, did heretofore register their respective titles or promotion, nor has any return of services or description of Glebe (altho' required by the Diocesan to make such return, save in one or two instances, been complied with)—do humbly certify, That

KING JAMES from Westminster, the 30 July 1609, founded three Cathedrals and confirmed them to Bishop Todd, that was when; Downmore was united, and to send deans, prebends, and other dignitaries, &c. &c. Not only the benefices annexed to their respective dignitaries, but several lands, rectories, tythes, wheresoever found by inquisition or other lawful title within the counties of Down or Antrim, to be divided between them by discreet commissioners, in two years following the date of said grant: Said deans and chapters then incorporated and made bodies politic, to be ordered and governed by same statutes as St. Patrick, Dublin,

In this diocese lies the Cathedral Church;—and Deanery of Down, consisting of the parishes of Down, Saul, Ballyvaughan, Ballicoyne, Bught, and Tyrrel; the dean resides in said parish of Bught near the center of the deanery; there is no glebe belonging to it, but a field of about an acre and a half in the town of Downpatrick, being glebe-house. These parishes join each other, are very contiguous, and have all good churches, wherein divine service is performed by the dean and his curates, except the small parish of Tyrrel, wherein there has been no church for time immemorial; but the parish of Bught and that of the vicarage of Rockmullen are near and convenient to the few parishioners of the established church who reside in it. The Chapter of the cathedral of said deanery consist of the archdeacon, chancellor, proctor, treasurer, prebend of Saint Andrews and Downport.

The Corps of the archdeaconry consists of the parish of Killeef, formerly a rectory, but I do not find when united; in which there is a glebe of two hundred and forty-nine acres, but no house; there is a church and resident curate, distant from this to Hillsborough near twenty miles.

HILLSBOROUGH. The archdeaconry has a good glebe-house, and glebe of twenty acres; the magnificent church, built by the late earl of Hillsborough, in the town, has divine service regularly celebrated by the archdeacon and his curate. Drumbo parish, parcel of the corps of said archdeaconry, has no glebe, has no glebe for the curate, lies about five miles from Hillsborough parish; there is a new church, where divine service is performed: and Drumbo has a new church, where divine service is celebrated by a curate, who has no glebe or glebe-house, it adjoins the former parish.

CHANCELLOR. The chancellorship of Down, contains the four united parishes adjoining Ballyphilip, Slane, Ballytrotan, and Ardquir, in the barony of Ards, and Ardgliss in the barony of Lecale; the Rev. Richard Radcliff, chancellor, does not reside, there are fourteen acres of glebe, in the parish of Ballyphilip, about half a mile from the church. A good glebe-house erected thereon. The church has been lately built, and the chancellor's curate officiates. There is no church in the parish of Ardgliss, which is about seven miles distant from Ballyphilip. The occasional duties done by the curate of Downport, the adjoining parish.

PRECENTOR. The Rev. Richard Wolsely; does not reside in his parish of Loughinthead; in which there is no glebe, or glebe-house. Cannot set forth whether said Wolsely has received a licence to permit non-residence. James L. as aforesaid.

TREASURERSHIP consists of the rectories of Kilmogga and Kilcoo, in the diocese of Down. The Rev. Lucas Waring, treasurer; does not reside in these parishes, but on that of Killybeg, which is an exempt jurisdiction in the lordship of Newry. Divine service is regularly administered by his curates of Kilmogga and Kilcoo. These parishes have not any glebe or glebe-house. Part of the Chapter, as aforesaid by James I. Killybeg is distant from the parish in this diocese, about twelve miles.

Prebend DUSFORT. The Rev. R. Mend; does not reside. I know of no glebe or glebe-house. The curate does duty at the parish church of Dunafort every Sunday, but does not reside; in this, as in every case of non-residence, am not informed whether they, or either of them, have any permission from the diocesan for such absence.

Prebend ST. ANDREW consists of the united parishes of Inch, Ardkeen, and Witter; by James I. The Rev. Robert Trail resides on the living of Ballintoy, in the diocese of Connor. The parish of Inch is situate in the barony of Lecale, Ardkeen and Witter in the barony of Ards; the former distant from the others about thirteen miles. Inch was formerly appropriate to the abbey of Inch; the church is built on a new site, and the cure served by the Rev. Ralph Wild; it has no glebe, neither has the other parishes.

RACHMULLAN. The Rev. Bernard Ward resides in the parish of Down, about three miles from his parish church. There is a glebe of five acres and a half adjoining the church, but no house. There is a chapel of ease in the town of Killybeg, in a ruinous state; but the Rev. J. Hamilton, late vicar thereof, has bequeathed an ample sum to rebuild it.

SAINTFIELD. Rev. Jas. Clewlow, the vicar; resides on a good glebe-house, and about ten acres of land. No parish united.

KILANEY. Is a small vicarage that cannot support a vicar, without glebe-house or church; neither does it appear that any vicar has been lately presented by the lay patron.

KILLILEAGH. Rector is the Rev. Dr. Richard Slack, who resides in another diocese. His cure is served by a Mr. Marshall, who resides in the glebe-house. As no terrier has been returned, cannot be accurate as to the extent of the glebe; supposed to contain about thirteen acres, at a distance of about a quarter of a mile from the glebe-house, in the town of Killybeg. Has no other parish united to it.

KILLINCHY. The Rev. James Hewetson generously resides; has a glebe estimated at about twenty seven acres, had a good glebe-house situated on it near the parish church. No union.

SAINT ANDREWS. The vicarages of Ballyhalbert, Ballywater, and Innishargy united by virtue of an act of parliament passed in Ireland: they are contiguous. The vicar resides in a good glebe-house, situate on the Union; and has about thirty acres of glebe, two miles from the church, but convenient to the glebe-house.

BANGOR. An improprietate cure: the parsonage house very good. The curate resides, and has twelve acres of glebe near the church.

DONAGHADEE vicarage has a glebe about ten acres, and a glebe-house; where the vicar resides in town. It has no union.

NEWTOWN. An improprietate cure. The curate resides in town, where the church is; and has a glebe of ten acres or thereabouts.

KNOCKBREDÁ. The rector resides; has a glebe of fourteen acres. There is one parish under two denominations, Knock and Breeda; but how united, or whether ever dissented, cannot set forth. They are contiguous.

DUNDONALD. The rector resides near the church, has twelve acres of glebe.

TOLLYNAKILL. A small parish, the Rev. J. Gwyn vicar, no church or glebe, not of value to pay a curate.

KILMOER. The vicar resides near the church, has a good glebe, and new built house thereon, the lands in the glebe twenty one acres, the church new, and was consecrated by the late bishop Dickson.

KILMUD. A small vicarage, presented to by lord Downshaw; has no church or glebe; tythe worth about twenty pounds a year.

GREYABBY Cure, served by the Rev. Hugh Montgomery; has no glebe or glebe-house.

MAGHERA, of little value, no church or glebe.

So humbly answers,

John Brett,

| Four acres of glebe and no house.              | Three churches in which divine service is performed. | KING JAMES from Westminster, the 4th of July 1609, founded three cathedrals, and confirmed them to Bishop Todd; that was, when Drogheda was taken; and to send demesne, prebends, and other dignities, &c. &c. Not only the benefices annexed to their respective dignities, but several had rectories, tythes, whosoever found by inquisition or other lawful title, within the counties of Down or Antrim, to be divided between them by discreet commissioners in two years following the date of said grant. Said demesne and chapters then incorporated and made bodies politic, to be ordered and governed by same statutes as St. Patrick's, Dublin. |
| No glebe or glebe-house.                       | Churches as underneath in the vicarages.             |                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                             |

A RETURN of the Names and Number of Parishes comprised in each Union of Parishes within the Diocese of DERRY; the period of time when such respective parishes were united, and the authority under which such union was effected; the number of acres of glebe which appertain to each parish, and whether any glebe-house is erected thereon; the distance at which such respective parishes so united lie from each other, when such parishes are not contiguous; and whether any and what number of churches, in which divine service is performed, are now situate thereon, or were at the time when such parishes were united, so far as the same can be made out.

UPON search made in the Registry of the Diocese of DERRY, and the archives thereof, I do not find that there are any Unions of Parishes in the said Diocese, which I certify this sixth day of January, one thousand eight hundred and six.

IN OBEDIENCE to the Requisition of the Honourable House of Commons of the United Kingdom of Great Britain and Ireland; and by the Direction of the Right Reverend James Lord Bishop of RAPHOE, —We certify,

THAT the three ecclesiastical persons immediately following have not, for one year last past, nor at any time, resided on their respective Benefices in this Diocese; viz.

Rectory and vicarage of Clondubhoka,—Rev. Thos. Green; who, along with this benefice, holds by faculty another in the South of Ireland, upon which it is supposed he resides. There is no glebe-house in this parish.

Rectory and vicarage of Mayvagh,—Rev. Christopher Russell; holding by faculty a benefice in the South of Ireland, upon which he is supposed to reside. No glebe-house.

Rectory and vicarage of Kilmacrennan,—Rev. William Bishaw; holding by faculty a benefice in the North-east of Ulster, on which he is supposed to reside. No glebe-house.

Rectory and vicarage of Inver, and rectory and vicarage of Templecross, both in the diocese of Raphoe,—Rev. Alexander Montgomery; who holds the same by faculty, and resides in the parish of Inver. The parishes not contiguous, the churches about fifteen miles distant. A glebe-house in each of the parishes.

Vicarage of Donegal,—Rev. Abraham Hamilton; holding by faculty a benefice in the diocese of Derry; very often attends personally in the parish of Donegal. A glebe-house.

UNIONS within the Diocese

Inver and Templecross, as above set forth.

Also five several parishes which compose the corps of the deanery of Raphoe; viz. Raphoe, Stranorlar, Lock, Lettermacward, and Killygarvan, held by patent; all contiguous except Lettermacward and Killygarvan, which are separate from the rest and from each other. The Dean resides in a glebe-house in the parish of Raphoe.

Also the parish of Tullyghuiff, in the presentation of the College of Dublin, held for time immemorial under this title and denomination, as a single parish by a single clerk, having one church only, and parish officers as for one parish: although there were in former times two distinct parishes, but still contiguous, and noted in the taxation-book of the Court of Exchequer under the titles of Rectory and Vicarage of Tullyfern, and Rectory and Vicarage of Aghalish, with a separate tithing to each. But when, by what authority, and in what manner they were united, does not appear. The minister constantly resident. No glebe-house.

The glebes in most of the parishes herein-mentioned are considerable; the number of acres in each not known. In one parish only of the diocese of Raphoe, Lettermacward, there is no glebe. In all of them are places for divine worship.

The rectories and vicarages in the several parishes having been consolidated for time immemorial, and held by one clergyman, form but one single parish or benefice.

John Aitch,

Vicar Gen.

Leach Walker,

THE corps of the Archdeaconry of Clogher consists of a small glebe of ten acres near Clogher, and the union of two parishes, Clones or Clonies and Clontibret, distant from each other about nine miles, united and appropriated in the year 1613. There are two churches in Clones, and one in Clontibret, in which divine service is performed. The glebe lands in the parish of Clones amount to above seven hundred acres, in the parish of Clontibret forty acres. The present Archdeacon is possessor only of the rectorial tithes of Clontibret, and the glebe near Clogher.

The corps of the Chancellorship of the cathedral church of Clogher did consist of five Parishes, under the denomination of the Union of Galloon; time of union or appropriation unknown, which have been at sundry periods separated and disannexed by act of Council. By the last act, dated January the 17th, 1804, the two last remaining Parishes, Carrin and Killeevan, were disannexed, saving the right of the Incumbent, during his incumbency. These two parishes therefore, with the small parish of Drumfuss, episcopally united, all contiguous, continue as a union to the present possessor, but no longer.

There is a church building in Carrin, and another in Drumfuss, when finished, there will be a parish church, in each of the three parishes; divine service at present performed in two churches. There are about sixty acres of glebe in Killeevan, where the Incumbent resides, none in Carrin or Drumfuss.

Their place is supplied by the Archdeacon and Synod.

In the old Diocese of Clonmacnoise united to Meath in 1568, there is a Dean, but no other Dignitary or Prebendary.

The foregoing is the most correct statement I have been able to make out of my registry.—
With respect to RESIDENCE, I have no documents on which I could venture to make a return. Residence throughout the Diocese is strictly enjoyed at the annual visitations by the ordinary; and at the visitation of 1805, five incumbents only were absent, two with licence from the Bishop on account of ill health, and proceedings are carrying on against the other three for their non-residence.

| The deanery of Dromore is a free cure, there being no cathedral establishment or choir; no deanery-house or land to erect one for the dean's residence. | The dean, the Rev. Raphael Walsh, clerk; is absent with the Bishop's entire approbation; having no personal service which he is obliged to attend.                                                                                                                            |
| The archdeaconry of Dromore, and rectory of Donoughcloney.                                                                                              | The archdeacon, the Rev. Stewart Blacker, clerk; having no glebe nor glebe-house at Donoughcloney; constantly resides in an adjoining parish, of which the rectorial duties are attached to his archdeaconry, and has a resident curate to serve the church of Donoughcloney. |
| The chancellorship of Dromore, and rectory of Clonsilla.                                                                                                | The chancellor, the Rev. John Davis, clerk; newly appointed to this preferment, is coming to reside, and is rebuilding the glebe-house at Clonsilla; and in the mean time occasionally shifts his curate, who regularly serves the church of Clonsilla.                       |
| The prebendship of Dromore, and rectory of Marlin.                                                                                                      | The prebendary, the Rev. Thomas Percy, L. L. D. having been constantly resident, and distinguished himself during the late rebellion; has now the Bishop's leave of absence, but has a curate resident in his glebe-house, who regularly serves the church of Marlin.         |
| The treasurer'ship and rectory of Dromore.                                                                                                              | The treasurer, the Rev. Henry Maxwell, clerk; being of a very advanced age, and exceedingly infirm, is absent with the Bishop's full permission, but has a resident curate who regularly serves the church of Dromore.                                                        |
| The prebend of Dromore, and rectory of Shankhill.                                                                                                       | The prebendary, the Rev. Holt Waring, clerk; having no prebendal residence nor glebe-house at Shankhill, constantly resides in the next adjoining parish, and has a resident curate who regularly serves the church of Shankhill.                                             |
| The rectory of Anshill.                                                                                                                                 | The rector, the Rev. John Donohoe, clerk; constantly resides in the glebe-house of Anshill.                                                                                                                                                                                   |
| The rectory of Moira.                                                                                                                                   | The rector, the Rev. Charles William Moore, clerk; has built a new glebe-house at Moira; but being prevented from residing, by a long and dangerous illness, has the Bishop's leave of absence, and has a resident curate who regularly serves the church of Moira.           |

| The vicarage of Drumhallymore, United to the vicarage of Drumgoonah, to which it is close adjoining. | The vicar, The Rev. Thomas Tighe, clerk; has caused a church to be built in this parish where there was none before, and paid a curate to serve the same, who having lately left him he serves the church himself till he can procure another curate.                        |
| The vicarage of Drumgath.                                                                            | The vicar, the Rev. Henry Boyd, clerk; having no glebe-house resides in a hired house near the church.                                                                                                                                                                       |
| The vicarage of Kilbrony.                                                                            | The vicar, the Rev. Thomas Ross, clerk; having no glebe or glebe-house, constantly resides in a house of his own near the church.                                                                                                                                            |
| The vicarage of Donoughmore.                                                                         | The vicar, the Rev. Brahazon Smith, clerk; constantly resides in his vicarage-house near the church.                                                                                                                                                                         |
| The vicarage of Aghaderg.                                                                            | The vicar, the Rev. Joseph M <sup>c</sup> Cosmick, clerk; has lately built a new glebe-house, in which he constantly resides.                                                                                                                                                |
| The vicarage of Sespattrick.                                                                         | The vicar, the Hon. and Rev. Pierce Meade, clerk; constantly officiates, but his glebe-house being much out of repair, he has the bishop's leave to reside in a neighbouring parish till it can be repaired or rebuilt.                                                      |
| The vicarage of Magherally.                                                                          | The vicar, the Rev. William Sampson, clerk; constantly resides in the glebe-house of Magherally.                                                                                                                                                                             |
| The vicarage of Garvaghy.                                                                            | The vicar, the Rev. Thomas Scotty, clerk; constantly resided in his glebe-house till it was found so much out of repair as to require to be rebuilt, and until this can be done he resides in the next adjoining parish, but regularly officiates at his church at Garvaghy. |

|                               |                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                            |

| The vicarage of Sego.         | The vicar, the Rev. George Blacker, clerk; regularly resides in the glebe-house of Sego.                                                                                                                                                                                   |
| The vicarage of Moyntagh.     | The vicar, the Rev. Thomas Raddiffe, clerk; having no glebe-house, resides in a hired house, near the church of Moyntagh.                                                                                                                                                  |
| The vicarage of Aghalee.      | The vicar, the Rev. Philip Fletcher, clerk; having neither glebe nor glebe-house, is allowed by the Bishop to reside in a neighbouring parish, and to keep a regular curate at Aghalee.                                                                                    |
| The vicarage of Magheradrell. | The vicar, the Rev. James Ford, clerk; regularly resides in the glebe-house of Magheradrell.                                                                                                                                                                               |
| The vicarage of Dromagh.      | The vicar, the Rev. Francis Burrows, clerk; who is also the diocesan schoolmaster of Dromore, having no glebe or glebe-house, is allowed by the Bishop to reside in the near adjoining town of Dromore where his school is, but he regularly serves the church of Dromagh. |

It will be seen by the above Statement, how regular the Residence of the Clergy is in this Diocese, wherein the Bishop himself constantly resides: nor hath there been absent one Clergyman without the Bishop's Leave since the 5th June 1804.

This is a faithful and true Report;

Witness my hand, this 14th day of January 1806,

Oliver Bush, Register.

SECOND.

A RETURN of the Names and Number of Parishes comprised in each Union of Parishes within the Diocese of DROMORE; the Time when such respective Parishes were united, and the Authority under which such Union was effected; the Number of Acres of Glebe which appertain to each Parish, and what Glebe-houses are erected thereon; and the Distance at which such respective Parishes so united lie from each other; and what Number of Churches in which Divine Service is performed, are now severally thereon, or were at the time when such Parishes were so united.

THERE is but one instance of the union of two parishes at present in the Diocese of DROMORE, viz. The union of the parishes of Drungooland with that of Drumballyrony; being both closely contiguous they have been so united, and held by one incumbent from time immemorial, so that the origin of their union cannot now be traced. There was only one church for both parishes in that of Drungooland, till the present incumbent, the Rev. Thomas Tighe, procured a grant of £. 500 from the Board of First Fruits, with which he erected a church in the parish of Drumballyrony, wherein divine service is constantly performed. There is no glebe-house in either parish, but the incumbent resides in a house of his own, near the church of Drungooland, there being no glebe-land in that parish: but he has procured a glebe of twenty acres in the parish of Drumballyrony, on which a glebe-house may hereafter be erected.

This is a faithful and true Report;

Witness my hand, this 11th day of January 1806,

Oliver Bond, Registrar.

- No 1. Deanry of Kilmore; consists of vicarage of Kilmore, vicarage of Ballinacorney, and rectory of Kesh; united time immemorial.
2. Vicarage of Cavan otherwise Urney, and vicarage of Anageliffe; united time immemorial.
3. Rectory of Lurgan and vicarage of Monasteroneight; united time immemorial. No trace who united or when.
4. Rectory and vicarage of Templeport and vicarage of Drumilly; united by Act of Council September 1683.
5. Vicarage of Clonclure; to which the vicarages of Clonlough and Killashere, are united time immemorial.

There is no record in the registry to show when or how united (except No 4.) nor what diocese the different parishes comprised in each union of parishes are from each other.

CHURCHES, GLEBES, AND GLEBE-HOUSES, &amp;c.

- No 1. There are two churches in which divine service is performed in this union, but when built does not appear by any record in the registry. A glebe of . . . acres belonging to Kilmore and a glebe-house.
2. There is a church in which divine service is performed in this union, but when built does not appear by any record in the registry. A glebe of 549 a. 1 r. 4 p. belonging to Cavan and Anageliffe, and a glebe-house at present in dispute.
3. There is a church in which divine service is performed in this union, but when built does not appear by any record in the registry, 517 a. 2 r. 16 p. belonging to Lurgan. No glebe-house.
4. There are two churches in which divine service is performed in this union, but when built does not appear by any record in the registry; 72 a. 2 r. 6 p. of glebe belonging to Templeport and 438 a. 1 r. 4 p. belonging to Drumilly.—A glebe-house on Templeport.
5. There is a church in which divine service is performed in this union, but when built does not appear by any record in the registry, nor what number of acres of glebe belong to it.—No glebe-house.

From the best information that can be obtained for many years back, and particularly for the year preceding the 5th day of June last (1805), the clergy were constantly resident within the diocese, a few excepted.—Those who having Dispersions for holding two livings were generally resident upon one of said livings, and their respective curates on the others. And also excepting those whose names are mentioned as follows:

NON-RESIDENCE.

The Rev. Rich<sup>d</sup> Wynne, incumbent of N<sup>o</sup> 2, not resident at Cavan, the property of the glebe-house being dispersed; but has a resident curate there who does the duty. Has a faculty for holding the living of . . . in the diocese of Elphin.

The Rev. John Cressy, vicar of Drumlane, not resident on Drumlane, has a Faculty, resides on this living of . . . in the diocese of Clogher.—No glebe-house; a resident Curate does the duty.

The rectory and vicarage of Sharnock, otherwise Killan, is vacant by decree of the Ecclesiastical Court of Kilmore for non-residence, which decree was confirmed by the Metropolitan Court of Armagh, and at present lies in appeal before the Delegates.—A curate resides and does the duty; there is no glebe-house.

The Rev. Dan<sup>l</sup> Palmer, rector and vicar of Knockbride, not resident; no glebe-house; preparing to build immediately.—A curate resides and does the duty.

The Rev. John Hill, vicar of Outragh, not resident.—No glebe-house; preparing to build; a curate resides and does the duty.—Has a faculty in the diocese of Derry.

The Rev. Dulse Blundie, rector and vicar of Kinawley; not resident.—No glebe house; two churches, two curates who reside and do the duty: has a faculty.

Edw. Bada, Regt.
